INFO

Tokyo cosmonauts is one of the latest sounds to come from Paris' music scene. Behind the anonymous tag of tokyo cosmonauts, it's Arnaud Leroy. His approach comes more from the background of a musician than that of a DJ. The taste in exotica, 60's american soft rock, 60's french pop, B-movies, video games and moog records speaks loud and clear. While his current approach relies heavily on electronics, he started off more traditionally back in the early 90's as a guitar player and singer. Gradually, his interest turned more to DJ'ing with robotic bleeps, quirky breakbeats, and just the right amount of low-slung funk. The first record was a four-track EP released in 2001 and titled "dub in japan - ep". It was a cut-and-paste romp through breakbeats, film scores, and numerous other aural oddities. Now the show goes on with rough beats and straight structures and more attitude of coolness. Last but not least a special remix from Kulturni Program for the lounge and jazzistic Djs. Strictly limited 400 copies!
